

LLOYD GEORGE FORCED TO CUT SOCIAL PLANS

Slayer's Known But Cannot Be Arrested

NEW YORK, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The slayers of Joseph P. Kamp, and of Dorothy King Keenan, victims in two of New York's most notorious unsolved murder mysteries, are shown to the police, according to Police Commissioner Enright, but the evidence is insufficient to warrant arrests. Elwell, sportsman and bridge expert, was slain in his apartment one night in May, 1920, after he had been host at a roof garden party atop one of this city's most noted hotels.

Dorothy Keenan, Broadway "Butterfly" was slain in her apartment at Fifth avenue, last March. Speaking over the radio last night on "police problems," Mr. Enright said:

"In these unsolved cases our books are not closed until the last principal offender is dead. About the Elwell and Dorothy Keenan cases, these cases are not mysteries to the police department. The murderers are known but we have been unable to get the one per cent additional legal evidence to make arrests."

"The department never sleeps. We hope some day to get the other one per cent of evidence. It is better to be sure of your shot than to miss."

New York Facing Serious Tenant Problem

NEW YORK, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Between 25,000 and 30,000 New Yorkers will be camping in the streets and parks about the time the first snow falls, if the tenement house department prosecutes every owner of a converted house on which house has been placed, Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann declared yesterday before the state commission on regional planning and housing.

In cases where there appeared to be no real hazard, he said, no prosecution had been ordered by his department.

Oklahoma Emerging From Most Disastrous Flood

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Oklahoma is emerging from its most disastrous flood as the North Canadian river recedes on its ordinary narrow banks leaving a thousand persons homeless, property damage estimated at $2,500,000, railroad and highway service paralyzed, and public utility services demoralized. Oklahoma City here the brunt of the tide, but the entire northwestern, northeastern and central parts of the state were engulfed by streams swollen by recent torrential rains.

Two are known to be dead here and the receding waters have not permitted searching parties to penetrate into the hardest hit portion of the city. Many persons are in hospitals suffering from exposure.

The flood waters which swirled and lashed through streets never before considered in danger from the river, rapidly are receding, although the Capitol Hill section, and Packtown, home of the meat packing industry, here remain cut off from the remainder of the city and likely will be closed to traffic for some time.

Air mail service to Lawton and other points isolated by the flood was inaugurated yesterday.

Coolidge To Tell Governors That He Is Determined To Enforce Volstead Act

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1923.)

WASHINGTON, October 17.—President Coolidge will enforce the Volstead act by utilizing every available agency of the United States government. And in telling this to the assembled Governors of the several states next Saturday, he will point out the serious responsibility which rests with the states to enforce the law of the land.

The effect of the citizenship conference has been to set the stage for an important pronouncement by President Coolidge. After it is made, it was said today at the White House there will no longer be any doubt about the position of the President toward law enforcement.

But at no time will the President take the extreme position on the prohibition subject which has been described by some prohibitionists as the course of "fanaticism." Mr. Coolidge recognizes that the enforcement of prohibition in entirely separate from whatever sentiments may legitimately be expressed with reference to future modification by legal means of existing law. So long as the statutes are on the books, he will insist upon 100 per cent enforcement, but the chances are he will not commit himself against modification as did the late President Harding.

Mr. Coolidge may take occasion to make it clear that he has absolute faith in Roy Haynes, prohibition Commissioner. He has informally let it (Continued on Page Six)

Need A Lot Of Convincing

NEW YORK, October 17.—(By the United Press)—Scientists today were impressed, but not convinced by "apparent production of objective psychic phenomena" by Mrs. J. H. Stewart, pastor of the First Independent Church at Cleveland.

J. Mat-corn Bird, associate editor of Scientific American, under whose auspices of which tests are being conducted, said that additional daylight experiments would be necessary before the magazine would be ready to accept Mrs. Stewart's spirit writing as meeting the requirements of the publication's $5,000 award for such phenomena. Mrs. Stewart was in session today keeping herself mentally receptive for meetings this week. Bird indicated that scientists who watched Mrs. Bird's writings apparently written by the shades of another world, still needed a lot of convincing to believe the medium actually was in touch with the dead. The tests were made in daylight in New York. Bird is the son of Mrs. Neely Wayburn, Bayside, Long Island. They came after several unsuccessful attempts indoors. Writings include messages from the late William James, noted psychologists, and signature of the late William P. Stead.

Ohio Valley Improvement Association In Session

CINCINNATI, O., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Representatives from more than 150 cities of the Ohio Valley were in attendance when the meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association opened here today for the discussion of problems pertaining to transportation.

One of the principal subjects to be taken up, according to W. C. Calkins, secretary of the association, is completion of the improvement of the Ohio river by locks and dams from Cincinnati to Cairo. Another matter to be discussed is the construction of a call to water terminal facilities in the major cities and towns along the Ohio river and its tributaries.

Eventually all of the leading cities and towns from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Captain Frank Chambers, water ways terminals expert of the United States Engineers Corps at Washington, is attending the meeting as the representative of Major General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers of the United States Army.

The sessions will continue until tomorrow.

Blame It On Senators

WASHINGTON.—William Allen White, after a talk with President Coolidge, declares federal government cannot enforce prohibition amendment because of system which allows United States senators to control the appointment of federal enforcement officers in the states.

Halt War Fraud Cases

WASHINGTON, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The score of more of government prosecutions in war fraud cases involving construction of army cantonments probably will be halted in view of the decision yesterday by Federal Judge Sater, O. O., in the test case relating to Camp Sherman.

"How seriously" the decision ultimately will affect the war fraud prosecution program is yet to be determined, but it became known today that action would be suspended at least until counsel of the war contracts section of the department of justice has gone into the question.

length and conferred with Attorney General Daugherty. The Camp Sherman case and others already filed involving $80,000,000 and six more bringing the total up to around $100,000,000 have been prepared.

Filing of the new proceedings, probably will be held up until department officials have studied, generally Judge Sater's decision, which held that the government's suits were not specific and that cantonment builders were not trustees for the government as contended by the government.

Bootleggers Store Liquor In Church

FINDLAY, O., October 17.—(By the United Press)—One thousand dollars worth of bonded whiskey, part of which bore imported labels, was seized by police who searched the basement of the Wesleyan Methodist church here today. Authorities acted on a tip from a man who refused to give his name. The liquor had apparently been stored there by bootleggers in the hope that the sanctuary would be immune from raids.

Quiet In Germany

BERLIN, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Measures announced by the municipality to aid the unemployed, were followed today by quiet in the trouble centers of Greater Berlin where mobs composed of thousands of idle workers engaged in food rioting yesterday resulting in the wounding of more than a score and as least one fatality. Today there was no sign of disorder in any of the districts where yesterday's disturbances occurred.

Among the measures announced by the city authorities in the way of relief were the immediate opening of fourteen feeding kitchens for the distribution of free meals and free allowances of wood and coal.

The Berlin police charge that a trick similar to methods they declare had been used in Moscow and Petrograd to incite the crowds to violence was successfully worked in the rioting near the town hall yesterday. Men stretched ladders followed by women in nurses' attire and carrying first aid kits accompanied the demonstrators, the police report. They contend that everything was comparatively orderly until the tricksters placed a perfectly sound man upon the stretcher, covered him with a sheet and began parading through the crowds, proclaiming the man to be a victim of police brutality. The trick worked like a charm, say the police, and soon afterward the rioting began.

Ex-Premier Spends The Day In His Bed

CHICAGO, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—David Lloyd George, former premier of Great Britain, has cancelled all his engagements for today but hopes to keep the speaking engagement tonight at the International Amphitheatre at the Stock Yards. Owing to the continuance of a slight temperature, his doctors have ordered him to remain in bed and rest the greater part of the day.

Lloyd George has a cold, aggravated by fatigue, his secretary, Sir William Sutherland, said. He added that with so much of the tour ahead of Lloyd George and with the example of President Harding's death, and former President Wilson's breakdown on tour, it was felt that the former premier's health must be given the best of care.

Sir William gave out this statement:

"Mr. Lloyd George's doctors last night found that he had a temperature due to a cold aggravated by fatigue and ordered him to remain in bed. He is somewhat better this morning, but imperative orders have been given to restrict his public engagements."

Sir William expressed the hope that Lloyd George would be able to speak at the "big meeting tonight," adding:

"We feel that with the example of President Harding and President Wilson before us, that we are under a heavy responsibility to care for Mr. Lloyd George's health. He has been called upon to make a great many more speeches than was expected. With so much of the tour left to be completed, we fear we must be very careful."

"Imperative orders" have been issued by David Lloyd George's personal physician for strict restriction of the famous Briton's social engagements for the remainder of his American tour. Word will be sent out today to other cities on the tour that luncheons, receptions and other social engagements must be cancelled. Due to the cold Lloyd George (then equally and it was decided to cancel all except speaking engagements in order to conserve his strength."

Constable And Sheriff Fire; Both Are Dead

MARSHALL, TEXAS, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The sheriff of Marion county and the constable of Jefferson, met on the main street there last night, and without a word shot each other to death.

Both men, B. B. Rodgers, the sheriff, and W. B. Procter, the constable, were past 50 years of age.

The constable shoved the sheriff against a water hydrant, the few persons who witnessed the shooting, told the police.

But while the sheriff momentarily lost control of his legs, his hand gripped his pistol, whipped out the weapon and fired. He hit Procter once in the hip and again in the heart.

Shots from the constable's pistol crossed with those of Rodgers. The constable shot the sheriff through the head while the latter was stumbling and slipping to the ground. Another bullet from the constable's weapon went wild. At that point the eye witnesses' stories were hazy, the police said.

According to police, the trouble arose possibly through court papers given the constable not being served with a fine being imposed on the sheriff subsequently.

Eighteenth Child

LUNEVILLE, FRANCE, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier and Mme. Poincare have consented to act as sponsors for the eighteenth child of M. Michel, president of the local "League of Big Families." The christening has been fixed for the day when the premier comes here to unveil a soldiers' memorial.

WASHINGTON.—Two school teachers, one supervising teacher, a lieutenant sergeant and eight privates in Philippine constabulary, were killed by Moros in a school house, Manila dispatch asserts.

"Wet" Senators Are Blamed For Blocking "Dry" Enforcement

WASHINGTON, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Expressions on the subject at the recent citizenship conference here and the approach of the governors' law enforcement conference to be held at the White House Saturday have combined to push the prohibition enforcement question to the forefront of national problems engaging the attention of the administration.

Phases of the problem to be presented for consideration at the going on conference were discussed by President Coolidge yesterday at a conference into which he called Secretary Mellon and Assistant Secretary Moss of the treasury, and Commissioner Blair of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Whether there was any discussion of the declaration made by Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, at the citizenship conference that prohibition enforcement should be personally directed by the president, was not disclosed. The proposal is known to be regarded by Secretary Mellon, however, as impracticable.

After calling on President Coolidge yesterday, William Allen White, Kansas editor, issued a statement in which he charged that "wet senators" in their "central of the appointment of federal enforcement officers in the states" were the source of the government's difficulty in enforcing the dry laws.

Successful federal enforcement cannot be accomplished, Mr. White declared, unless "the president of the United States does one of two things, either puts righteousness and the fear of God into the wet senators, or breaks with them."

Otherwise, he said, federal enforcement "in the east will continue to be a farce and in the west is lost and so the nation." He added to expression of confidence that President Coolidge would be able to handle the situation.

PLACES GERMAN INDEMNITY AT FIFTY BILLION GOLD MARKS

PARIS, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The Belgian reparations plan was presented to the reparations commission today by M. Delacroix, the Belgian member. The commission will meet again next week to consider it in detail. The Belgian reparations plan places the minimum indemnity Germany is required to pay placed at fifty billion gold marks. The plan recommends that this be guaranteed by hypothecation of the railroads and such monopolies as tobacco, coal, sugar, salt, wines and beer.

Toledo Man Heads Y. M.'s

CANTON, O., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Paul W. Alexander, of Toledo, was re-elected president of the International Body of Y. M.'s Clubs at the closing session of the second international convention of the clubs here today. M. R. Chapin, of Sidney, N. S., was re-elected first vice president; W. W. Winter, of Mobile, Ala., second vice president; G. B. Biers of Waterbury, Conn., third vice president, and E. W. Hall, of Beverly, Mass., secretary-treasurer. The officers with the following men will form the directors: Harold Bennett, of Camden, N. J.; Gains Campbell, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and L. R. Shroyer, of Canton. The directors will decide upon the 1924 convention city. Invitations were received from clubs in Chattanooga, Tenn., Boston, Mass., and Dayton, Ohio.

Something Brewing In Reparation Snarl

PARIS, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Herr Von Hoess, the German Charge d'Affaires, went to the foreign office for a conference with Premier Poincare which in some quarters is believed to forecast an important step in regard to the reparations problem. The German charge remained at the foreign office 35 minutes. Immediately after the Czechoslovakian legation without informing his colleagues what had taken place during the interview.

Wholesale Hunger Strike

BELFAST, IRELAND, October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Tragic results, or else notable victory, may be the outcome of the hunger strike begun by the soldier prisoners in Mount Joy jail in Dublin a few days ago, according to a Republican manifesto circulated from Dublin. There are approximately 13,000 prisoners in the jails, says the manifesto, which continues:

"When the hunger strike spreads to the other camps and prisons the people may be prepared to be shaken from their apathy by a tragedy or a victory unparalleled in the history of the nation." The manifesto states that all the Mount Joy prisoners have taken this oath: "I pledge myself in the name of the living republic that I will not take food or drink anything but water until I am unconditionally released."

Welty To Seek A New Trial

TOLEDO, O., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Motion for a new trial will be made next Friday by attorneys for former Congressman Ben F. Welty, convicted of overcharging a disabled ex-service man for securing compensation for him, before Judge Paul Jones in federal court here. Unless the motion is granted, sentence will be pronounced at that time, according to the court. Welty obtained his liberty after the jury had returned a verdict of guilty on furnishing $2,000 bond.

Under the law the maximum charge for services such as Welty performed for Franklin R. Strayer, Elida, Ohio, is $3. He admitted having been paid $1274, but contended his agreement was with Strayer's father, who obtained a judgment for $2,400 against the guardian of the former soldier.

The penalty Welty is facing consists of two years at hard labor, $500 fine, or both.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

CLEVELAND, O., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Three young men were injured, one probably fatally, when an automobile in which they were riding, to work this morning, collided with another car and plunged over a fifty foot embankment in Rockefeller Park. Peter Spuller, 22, the driver, sustained a fractured skull and is not expected to live.

Body Fails To Equal Courage, Caught

BALTIMORE, MD., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—In union station last night with a ticket to New York in his hand, and the announcer calling his train, the body of Frederic Ramos, 21, failed to equal his courage, and a daring break for freedom from the state penitentiary here failed.

According to Ramos' own story, he had planned his escape weeks ago. To secure the 25 foot penitentiary wall he had improvised a hook and rope, and last night finding an opportunity, reached the top of the wall. There a guard saw him, fired, and Ramos fell outside the wall with a broken leg. While prison authorities searched for him within the yard, Ramos crawled some distance away and hailed a passing automobile. He told the driver he had been struck by a taxi cab, but that he must get the train for New York.

At union station Ramos managed to buy a ticket and reach a seat in the concourse, but when his train was called he could not rise. Seeing the youth was injured, a railroad officer had him taken to a hospital.

Meanwhile penitentiary officials had issued a general alarm, which reached police headquarters just as the hospital made its accident report. The descriptions in the two reports failed so accurately that the desk sergeant sent officers to the hospital to investigate.

Confronted by the police, Ramos admitted his identity and after receiving first aid treatment, was taken back to the penitentiary hospital.

Holy Redeemer Pupils Honor Beloved Pastor; Present Splendid Program

Opening with that beautiful and appropriate song, "My Own Union-States," and singing with a unit that resounded throughout the vast auditorium, the pupils of Holy Redeemer School presented a delightful musical program and a clever little playlet last evening in the Portsmouth High School honoring their beloved pastor, Rev. J. E. McGuirk who with his two sisters, Miss Martha McGuirk, and Mrs. Jean Kelley, returned Saturday from a two months' trip through Europe.

Following the opening chorus, Miss Catherine Pelger, in her own charming way delivered the address of welcome, and presented Father McGuirk with a magnificent bouquet of roses, as a token of love and appreciation of his safe return to his flock.

The remainder of the program was well rendered and very enjoyable and included the following numbers:

Dramatization in Song—"Brave Heart," the girls of the Primary Grades.

Songs in Action—"The Shoemaker Song and Dickey," Dickey Duck, boys of the Primary Grades.

Chorus—"This Is The Land Where Hate Should Die," the High School Glee Club.

A scene from Longfellow's "Hiawatha" with Indian Dance, pupils of the Grammar Grades.

Dance—"The Minuet," girls and boys of the Third and Fourth Grades.

The Short Drill, girls of the Intermediate Grades.

Sailor Boys in Song and Drill, boys from the Intermediate Grades.

At the conclusion of the above program Beatrice Kean, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kean, of Sixth street, rendered that beautiful song, "My Mother in Ireland," with piano accompaniment by her father, C. E. Kean. Although only nine years of age, little Miss Kean has a wonderful contralto voice, and she rendered this difficult song with the ease and grace of a finished singer.

As an encore she sang "Barney Google," and so well was it received that the audience demanded that she sing it over and over.

The two act playlet, "A Perplexing Situation," was then presented by the High School pupils.

The scene was laid in the sitting room of the Middleton home on Saturday morning. Mrs. Middleton (Imogene White) and her two daughters, Jessie Middleton (Catherine Holden) and Sue Middleton (Regina Billian) and their cousin, Lance (Dorothea Males) were looking through a fashion book and trying to figure out how they could make their out-of-date wardrobe over so they could attend a fashionable wedding "down the street." They were so intent on solving this problem and getting much talking that they failed to see Mr. Middleton (Philip Tananaka) who was lured to be miserly, and his son Tom (Howard Duschinski) enter the room. Mr. Middleton was so sure that his family could not keep from talking for a few hours that he offered to give each of them a check for $50 if they would not speak a word until the clock struck six. The girls accepted the proposition and so positive was Mr. Middleton that they could not fulfill the obligation that he raised the amount to $75. The family decided to win the money by buying their wardrobe for the wedding, and then there were some funny and humorous situations during the remainder of the day. Maud, a friend of the family (Margaret Cuppett) who lives in the neighborhood, is called to see what was going on, and to cap the climax, Uncle Epitimus, from way up country, whom they had not seen for a visit, when his niece made ridiculous motions instead of talking to him thought they were all dumb.

This part was played by James Tomlinson and he was a scream with his chin whiskers keeping time to the accompaniment of a

Yes, I'm Going To The Joint Meeting Of Business Clubs

The Business Men's Clubs of the city Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange have prepared a rare treat for themselves on Friday evening of this week. Finding that meeting in common conclaves has heretofore proved profitable plans have been laid for another rousing get-together on the date set. The last joint meeting jammed the main dining room of the Washington Hotel. Since then each of the three clubs have grown and this time it was necessary to seek larger quarters to accommodate the crowd. The committee in charge has prevailed upon the management of The Selby Shoe Company to undertake the feeding of the two hundred odd hungry citizens so the festivities will open up in the main restaurant of the local shoe company at 8 p. m. A square meal has been promised. After the chicken and trimmings have been stowed away in accordance with the several caprices of the participants an ample opportunity will be afforded for the exercises of vocal chords each club trying with the others to make the most audible noise tinged with music.

Following this demonstration the big event of the evening will be sprung in the person of Mr. R. R. hear his message. Mr. Watson's needs no introduction in his home city where last time he spoke at the local shoe company at 8 p. m. A square meal has been promised. After the chicken and trimmings have been stowed away in accordance with the several caprices of the participants an ample opportunity will be afforded for the exercises of vocal chords each club trying with the others to make the most audible noise tinged with music.

Court House

Davis On Trial; Castor A Witness

John ("Bull") Davis, former North End soft-drink proprietor, and Harry Castor, former state driver, were taken to the County Jail, where they will remain today by Deputy Sheriff Eliza Cantor and Robert Reno, Davis to stand trial in the United States District Court under an indictment charging him with violating the National prohibition law, and Castor to appear at the U. S. Grand Jury.

Attorney H. L. Small accompanied the party to assist in the defense of Davis. Other local persons, including U. S. Commissioner J. F. John, Municipal Clerk Floyd Spunkler, Squire George S. Morgan and Deputy Sheriff Cantor and Reno were witnesses for the government in the Davis case.

Leave Given To File

Judge Will P. Stephenson entered an order today allowing the applications filed by Attorney Horace L. Small to file petitions in error in Common Pleas Court on behalf of Fred Leonard, Taylor Gartner, Holly and Charles Krutner and William Benson.

The applicants were recently convicted and fined in the liquor court of Squire J. L. Dickey, of New Boston, under charges of violating the dry laws and they are now prosecuting error proceedings from the findings and judgment of the Magistrate to the higher court.

Attorney Coryell Here

Attorney W. C. Coryell, of West Union, who is visiting his nephew, Dr. D. C. Coleman, of Independence, was in the city today. While in town Attorney Coryell called at the courthouse to see old friends and greet his distinguished fellow-townsmen. Judge Will P. Stephenson, of West Union, who is occupying the local bench this week heard a special docket.

Wife Seeks Divorce

Alleging neglect and cruelty and declaring he left her when sick and unable to care for herself, Evelyn Candill is seeking divorce and alimony with custody of their three minor children in an action filed in Common Pleas court Wednesday against Forrest Candill, now said to be living at Stokesburg, Raleigh County, Virginia, whom she married in July, 1919.

Plaintiff in her petition filed through Attorneys Blair & Blair, says that Candill called her vile and vulgar names, threatened to assault and beat her and declare he deserted her without means to support her self and children, although amply able to do so. Besides, she complains, he was too chummy with other women.

E. K. S. Clinkenbeard In Serious Condition In Winchester Hospital

Friends here of E. K. S. Clinkenbeard, former well known resident of this city and past exalted ruler of the local Lodge of Elks, will regret to learn that he is in a serious condition in a hospital in Winchester, Ky. Mr. Clinkenbeard has been traveling for a Louisville tailoring house and Portsmouth was included in his territory. He was formerly employed as a cutter by the Schwartz, Clothing company, and later worked in the same capacity for Hall Bros. He resigned this position when he became safety director under the administration of Ex-Mayor Kaps. Mrs. Clinkenbeard has virtually been an invalid since she suffered a fractured hip in a fall over a year ago.

Officials of the local Lodge of Elks received word today that Mr. Clinkenbeard's condition was complicated very serious, and then here a month ago apparently he was in his usual good health.

Parent-Teachers' Club To Meet

The Parent-Teachers' Club of the Eleventh Street School, will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday afternoon of this week at the school building. An interesting program has been prepared as follows:

Address Dr. N. L. Barnett

Instrumental Solo Miss Viola T. Grant

Suit Echo Of Auto Ride

Millard Williams is made defendant in a suit for $5,000 damages instituted in Common Pleas Court Wednesday by Marie Ruark Linwood, suing through Attorney C. F. Higgins.

Plaintiff in her petition says that on the morning of July 23 last, on the invitation of defendant and one Maebelle Fitzgerald, she accompanied them on an automobile ride, presumably for only a short distance, but instead, she complains the defendant carried her by the shoulders and on the return drove a gun and threatened to molest her.

Plaintiff further says that she is afflicted with tuberculosis and claims that by reason of the exposure and assault upon her by the defendant she has suffered a relapse, has grown weaker and that her disease is much aggravated and worse, because of the things complained about.

Hale Seeks Divorce

N. B. Hale charges neglect and cruelty in his suit for divorce and custody of their two minor children filed in Common Pleas Court today against Leah Hale, 2642 Gallia street.

Plaintiff in his petition filed through Attorneys Blair & Blair complains that the defendant in his absence has brought and associated with other men in their home at the Gallia street address and declares that she has constantly and persistently flirted with men and sought by her acts and conduct to attract men to her. He further charges that the defendant has neglected him, their children and home for the association of other men.

Nicolet Files Answer

For answer to the divorce and alimony suit of Ella Nicolet, Frank Nicolet, prominent Stockdale farmer, denies her charges of cruelty, and through Attorney E. G. Miller especially denies that he ever assaulted, beat or choked plaintiff, threatened or cursed, harassed or tormented her, besides he denies he ever compelled plaintiff to work in the fields or that he sleeps with a revolver under his pillow. Nicolet further replies that for several years past plaintiff has kept a large number of cows which he fed and she received the revenue from the sale of the products, which was practically the entire income from their farm. He declares she has no just cause of complaint against him and asserts that all the trouble between them grew out of his refusal to sell the farm and other property and give her one-half of the proceeds.

Evans Follow Wreck On East End Viaduct

As the result of an auto wreck on the Lawson Run viaduct last night about ten o'clock, Evans, Evans was arrested on a charge of reckless driving, while his companions, Edmund Brisker and Albert Hoover, were arrested on intoxication charges. Later Gilbert Hollar signed an affidavit against Evans as he owned the machine that figured in the collision with Evans' machine.

According to Hollar, his car was driven by Roy Hoseny, who was on the right hand side of the viaduct, near Gallia, when Evans suddenly shot his car across the street from the other side and crashed into his machine.

Evans managed to get his car out of the wreck and attempted a getaway, but was overtaken by Officers Flowers and Kennard at Fifth and Broadway streets. In police court Wednesday Hoover and Brisker were fined $11.20 each while Evans was fined $25 and costs with $15 suspended if he pays the damages to the Hollar machine.

Steamer Helpless

PORTLAND, ORE., October 17.—(By Associated Press)—Drifting helplessly in an 72 mile gale, dangerously near the rocks off North Head near the mouth of the Columbia river this morning, was the steam schooner Claremont, which reported her deck load washed overboard, her small boats smashed, her steering gear out of commission, boilers leaking and engines disabled. Numerous efforts of rescue vessels were nullified by the high seas.

The Swedish steamer Roxen, battling with the waves all night after part of her deck load began to shift. The Claremont is bound from Raymond, Washington to San Pedro, California, and the Roxen from Puget Sound to the Columbia River, both loaded with lumber.

Booth In Temple Theater Damaged By Fire; Audience Files Out Quietly

A good sized crowd in the Temple moving picture theatre, on Eleventh street, near Jackson filed out in a quiet manner about 9 o'clock last night when a fire in the galvanized booth, caught fire and caused smoke to fill the theatre. The cashier telephoned in an alarm and when the name of the theatre was misunderstood, the firemen from the Seventh street and East End companies made a run to Gallia and Gallia streets. On return to their stations it was learned that the fire was at the East End theatre but that the blaze had been extinguished with chemicals. The film was badly damaged and electric wiring in the booth will have to be repaired as the result of the insulation being burned. The damage will be about $100. George Law, owner of the Eastland is owner of the Temple.

Mr. Burman Inn, Attorney Henry T. Burman has been ill several days at his home in Bannan Place.

To Ask Donahey To Enforce Law

COLUMBUS, O., October 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Resolutions calling upon Governor Donahey to take "such steps as will make an end of the flouting of the prohibition law, and which will secure that regard for law and order without which no commonwealth or nation can hope to endure," will be adopted by the Ohio Council of Churches in annual meeting here today.

Another resolution unanimously endorsed at last night's meeting expressed approval of President Coolidge's action in calling a conference of governors for Saturday, to bring about stricter enforcement of prohibition laws. Both resolutions were presented by Bishop William F. Anderson, of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Representatives of 15 Protestant denominations in Ohio with a total membership of 1,000,000, are attending the meeting.

Harvey S. Firestone, Akron rubber manufacturer, and president of the council in an address, warned the assembly of the danger of its organization from a growing sense of its power and influence with politicians.

Rottinghaus Store Robbed

Five revolvers, two pocket flashlights and between $2 and $3 in change left in the cash register, formed the loot of a thief who broke into the Henry Rottinghaus store, 208 Market street, Tuesday night. The robbery was discovered this morning when the store was opened for business. After the money was found missing, an investigation revealed the theft of revolvers and flashlights, 10 by 14 inch pane was taken out of a rear window and it was through this small opening that entrance and exit was made. A ladder was taken from the Daelier storage place just west of the store which was used to reach the window.

"May The Best Teams Win"

The time has come when there must be a better feeling between Portsmouth and Ironton in regard to athletics. Of course the participants of each place are sure the "other fellows" are entirely to blame, but whether that is true or not it is certain that conditions may be remedied if all try to better them.

In this connection the following editorial from the Ironton Register should be read by all interested in the future of athletics in this section of the state:

"Portsmouth sends her High School team here Saturday for a game with our lads. Ironton has a duty to perform. See that your treatment of the visitors is as fine as you can make it. Win, of course, but play fairly, decently and gentlemanly, and victory will be sweeter. The fans who attend should cut out the razzing. Be fair and generous to the guests, who come in the interest of good clean, inter-city sport. The Sports House eleven come Sunday with a strong outfit. We rejoice in no Ironton victory over Portsmouth, but that victory must not be tainted or questionable. The Tanks have been accused of "dirty" play by Portsmouth. We know the charge was unfounded. The Tanks play a hard hitting, grinding, masterful crew of players, and their smashing tactics oft lead the weaker aggregations to think they are unnecessarily rough. The Portsmouth eleven and the spectators will be looking for something about which to complain. Let's send them back home with nothing but words of praise for their play and for the spectators. Let's forget the old-time knocking and chewing and play the game as it should be played. The spectators need this caution, but the Tanks men always play fair."

Arrested At Greenup; Refuses To Return Here Without Requisition Papers

Sheriff Harry M. Dunham and Deputy Eliza Carter returned yesterday afternoon from Greenup where they went after Melvin Jenkins, local police character and notorious thief, held in jail there in connection with the theft of Frank Seymour's automobile, which was stolen from this city sometime Sunday night. Jenkins, who was apprehended by the Greenup officers, refused to return to Ohio without requisition papers and he will be detained until the necessary papers are secured.

The stolen engine was recovered, being found in a barn near Greenup, where it had been left. It is claimed, by Jenkins a few hours before his arrest, Seymour sent a rider to bring the animal to Portsmouth today.

PLANNING FOR HOMECOMING

A good attendance was present last night for an excellent meeting held by Peerless Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

A homecoming is being planned for next month, the date to be decided by the committee appointed at last night's meeting, as well as other arrangements for the event.

Three visitors were in attendance at last night's meeting, Samuel Miller and H. Wells Elliott of Magnolia Lodge, Portsmouth, and M. C. Wright of Pueblo, Colorado, who discussed experiences traveling through the southwest.

Members Of Crew Mutinied

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 17—Forty members of the crew of the steamer City of Cleveland III of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company, led by Walter Hubbard, a baker on the ship, mutinied while on the high seas, last Saturday night, it was revealed today when Hubbard was arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd, and charged with assault on high seas.

Hubbard, according to Department of Justice agents, who brought the charge, fomented the trouble by smoking on the top deck, where automobiles were stored, in violation of the fire regulations, while the boat was en route to Detroit from Buffalo. He was ordered to stop smoking by John Redmond, a watchman. On the baker's refusal, Redmond seized an ax and chased Hubbard below deck. There, according to the agents, he mustered about 40 members of the crew. They marched on deck and forced Redmond, who was cut in the face with a knife. After they had dispersed the watchman, the agents said, the men went around the ship and terrorized engineers, others and others.

Capt. James B. McDonald was notified and gathering officers and some of the crew, he forced the mutineers into submission. Hubbard was placed in irons for the rest of the voyage.

The Department of Justice agents charged him with violating the knife that cut Redmond. When arraigned before Commissioner Hurd he pleaded not guilty and was held in $2,000 bond for examination, November 2.

Unknown Microbe May Cause Measles

PARIS, Oct. 17—The discovery of a heretofore unknown microbe in the blood of measles patients, is announced by Drs. Salimbeni and Kernsman. It is of the spirochaeta species, is of cork screw shape and always appears in the presence of another species of bacteria without which it seems to be unable to live. The discoverers are continuing their research work believing that the microbe may prove to be the cause of measles.

Five Years After Victory Democracy In Peril

CHICAGO, October 17—(By the A. P.)—Five years after the World War democracy which in 1918 was a great victory over autocracy is in peril—David Lloyd George, the war-time premier of Great Britain, declared in a luncheon address here today. A wave of autocracy seems to be sweeping over the world, he declared, but against it the United States, Great Britain and France will stand together.

"Russia threw over democracy a few months after starting the experiment," the former premier asserted. "Italy, Spain, Bulgaria and now Germany is talking about a dictatorship. Democracy is in peril; in peril five years after the greatest triumph democracy has ever had."

200 Summoned In Suit Against The Klan

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 17—Subpoenas calling for the appearance in Federal Court here October 24, of several hundred persons, including state and county officials, members of the judiciary and political leaders of both major parties as witnesses in the injunction suit brought in behalf of six South Bend citizens against the Ku Klux Klan, were issued today by William Knapp, clerk of the court. The list of witnesses was submitted by Joseph Bonch, who with Patrick O'Donnell, president of the American Unity League, brought action for the South Bend residents, who seek to have their names removed from lists purporting to be lists of Klansmen.

Among the persons for whom subpoenas were issued are: Ed Jackson, secretary of state; Orr Davies, state treasurer; Newman T. Miller, state fire marshal, and Lawrence Lyons, former Republican state chairman.

Judges Are Called.
James A. Collins, judge of the Marion Criminal Court; Judge James Leathers of Superior Court, room 1, and Judge Clinton M. Given of Superior Court room 4, are members of the Marion county judiciary, named. George Sneider, sheriff of Marion County; Albert Losche, clerk of Marion County Court, and Dr. Paul F. Robinson, Marion county coroner, are others on the list of witnesses.

Other persons included in the list of witnesses are Ralph Updike, state representative from Marion county; Capt. Walter McCord, Capt. Harry J. Langan and Lieut. R. P. Holler, army officers stationed at Fort Benning, Harrisburg.

Conspiracy Is Alleged.
The original suit, among other charges, alleged the members of the Klan, are engaged in a conspiracy to form a super-government to gain control of the judiciary and the administration of justice and that the Klansmen are endeavoring to gain control of the army and militia and were influencing members of the army board of inquiry called to look into issues of government property by the Klan.

Harding's Effects Sold At Auction

WASHINGTON, October 17—In the residence where Warren G. Harding lived as a senator here the auctioneer's hammer today knocked down to the highest bidder certain household effects which once belonged to the late President. Every article in the house, from a blackened copper boiler to the favorite easy chair and book case, was sold.

A large crowd attended the sale and paid well for the privilege of owning some of the articles that had been closely associated with the life of Mr. Harding.

The former President's rugs proved to be the favorite articles among the bidders and there was sharp competition between those who sought them. A sprinkling of second hand dealers found themselves at the disadvantage of competing with persons who wanted articles for sentimental value.

The house had been sold furnished by Mr. Harding after his election to the presidency.

SWALLOWED UP

By MRS. WILSON WOODROW
Illustrated by RAY SATERFIELD

CHIEF BY BREITENBERG - GILES BY THE RIBBON COMPANY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Loring Ranger offers a reward of one hundred thousand dollars for the return of his missing daughter, Hope. Acting upon instructions from Hope's abductors, Ranger deposits a hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds at a specified place.

Dr. Bristol has a private sanatorium and in it Hope is held a prisoner. Dr. Kelsey is detained there because he knows of criminal dealings of Dr. Bristol.

Hope and Kelsey become friends and together they manage an escape in Bristol's car. They ride to an abandoned house owned by Hope's father. Kelsey falls asleep and Hope hears the voice of Dr. Bristol in the yard. Juarez, Charlie, adventurer and close friend of Ranger, is trailing Hope to the sanatorium.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Bristol knows there is a hiding place in the house. I am going to give myself up. Reach my father. Love forever."

Without giving her impulse time to cool, she hurried back to the cupboard and crept into the passage, closing the panel carefully behind her. Kelsey still lay in deep, exhausted sleep. She bent over him, her lips near to his; then drew back, fearing to awaken him. Very gently she slipped the note between his relaxed fingers, and then felt her way along the wall until she reached the other exit.

Outside at last, and no sign that she had attracted any attention. Shielded by two or three out-buildings, and concealed by patches of shrubbery, she reached the gap in the hedge. Passing through it, she made a quick detour to the right to reach a little brook, and so at last came to the open space where the wrecked automobile lay.

She heard the men approaching who had been whistled back from the woods, and began dodging from tree to tree as if attempting to hide.

They saw her as she had intended they should. Two of them caught her. She made a show of struggle, but they held her fast by the arms.

In answer to their shouts, Bristol and the others came running through the hedge.

"Ah!" he said with unctuous satisfaction as if a weight had been suddenly removed from his chest. "Now to get the other one." His eyes were like points of steel as he came across to Hope.

"Where's Kelsey?" he demanded. She look at him vacantly.

"Who?" he repeated. "The man you went away with. Where is he?"

"That man? He was under the automobile; there was blood on him."

"Yes, yes. But what became of him?"

She leaned toward him with the air of imparting a confidence. "That man is crazy. He said he wasn't, but I know better. I wanted him to hide in the woods. I know these woods." She passed her hand uncertainly over her forehead. "I don't know how a foreboding came over me. I wanted him to hide here, but he wouldn't do it. He talked about getting a boat down on the beach, and when I wouldn't go with him he ran away." She waved her hand vaguely toward the shore.

Bristol's eyes bored through her, but she looked beyond him listlessly indifferent.

Finally he gave a curt order to have her taken back to the hospital.

CHAPTER XXI
Kelsey woke up slowly, dragging his now. Why was the panel open? Ah! There Hope stood in it—No! It was a man.

When he awoke, "The man in the opening ducked, and raised an arm to shield himself."

"I'm a friend," he cried, throwing himself against the side of the cupboard. "Honest you can believe me. A friend of Ranger's."

Kelsey looked above him, still threatening, but his lowering glance had shifted. What was this he was holding in his clenched hand—that bit of white paper sticking through his fingers, between the spreading knuckles?

Juarez Charlie had doctored, and quick as a cat on his feet, stepped from the cupboard into the room. Kelsey had unclosed his hand, and was straightening out the paper. He could see that there was something written on it, but the light was too dim and gray for him to decipher it.

In the room and at the window in two strides.

Here he read Hope's message. The rain was dashing against the window-panes, the wind wailing about the house.

The uprushing blood darkened his face. He whirled savagely, and caught Charlie by the shoulder, shaking him hard.

"Who are you? One of their men?"

men? Did you help take her?"

"I did not," Charlie wriggled like an eel from that biting grasp and stood rubbing his shoulder. "I'm one of Ranger's men, Juarez Charlie. Do you get that?"

He swaggered, his hands in his trouser pockets, his head at its most impudent angle.

"I've been wondering about with one-third of a picture-puzzle, trying to piece the rest out of the air. And you've got the other two-thirds. They know that I've been on their trail, and that I've been in Barcelona. They think you're a doctor."

"Drowned? Me?" Kelsey repeated. "In heaven's name, why?"

"She told them you'd made for the shore, and a boat. Then, that terrible storm. Lord! Did you sleep through that?"

"I seem to have slept through everything, but my own especial judgment. But, I'm going through that now."

"But, still," Charlie continued, "there's always the chance of your being alive and at large. So, everything considered, they've got a new situation before them."

"But, my God, if you're what you say you are, one of Ranger's men, all you have to do is go out now and telephone him and the authorities."

"Oh, is it?" Charlie retorted with acid sarcasm. "This thing isn't quite as simple as it sounds. You start out to telephone, and you'll be nabbed sure."

Half-convinced, Kelsey gave way ungraciously.

"What sort of a place is this sanatorium?" The brusque tang of the question gave Kelsey the feeling that Charlie was really bending somewhere, and aroused him from his melancholy abstraction.

"Bristol's?" He looked up. "One of the best in the country. Only for the very rich of course; thoroughly managed. Bristol is an alienist of the first rank, with a criminal twist and a craze for money."

"What were you doing there?" Kelsey told him briefly of his position as assistant surgeon, and the circumstances of his detention; of his first experience with Hope and of the role she was playing; of their subsequent meetings and the escape.

Two of them caught her. She made a show of struggle, but they held her fast by the arms.

In answer to their shouts, Bristol and the others came running through the hedge.

"Ah!" he said with unctuous satisfaction as if a weight had been suddenly removed from his chest. "Now to get the other one." His eyes were like points of steel as he came across to Hope.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

DEAR DOLLY—As you seem to know everything perhaps you can tell me the name and address of the State Superintendent of Schools. Dolly, our husbands pay taxes to help keep our schools, but our children, who are supposed to attend the Stanton Avenue School, have only been permitted to attend two or three hours each school day since school began way over a month ago. We are told that some changes are being made to the schoolhouse, but why weren't these changes made during the summer months when there was no school? Dolly, we just think it is a shame that our children are being cheated out of their schooling through the carelessness of some party or parties, and we believe the State Superintendent should know about it.

TWO NEW BOSTON READERS. Mr. Vernon M. Riegel is State Superintendent of Schools and he can be addressed in care of the State Department of Education, Columbus, Ohio.

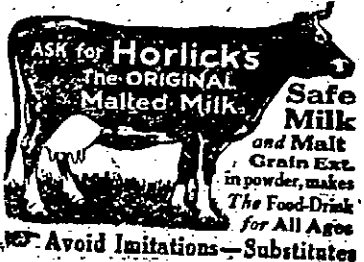

DEAR DOLLY—I am 12 years of age and in the sixth grade. Dolly, I wear my dresses just below the knees. Is that too long for a girl of my age? Dolly, I have a little sister, aged 17, or at least she feels big and she wants to boss me around all the time. Dolly, when my mother tells her to do something she just transfers the order to me and expects me to do all her work and mine, too. Dolly, do you think that is nice in a sister? —COURLEY HEAD.

SOCIAL NEWS

The first of a series of beautiful parties given this week by two charming matrons, Mrs. D. L. Williams and her daughter, Mrs. R. Watson Goddard, occurred on Tuesday evening in the form of a delightful bridge party at their handsome home, 2214 Fourth street.

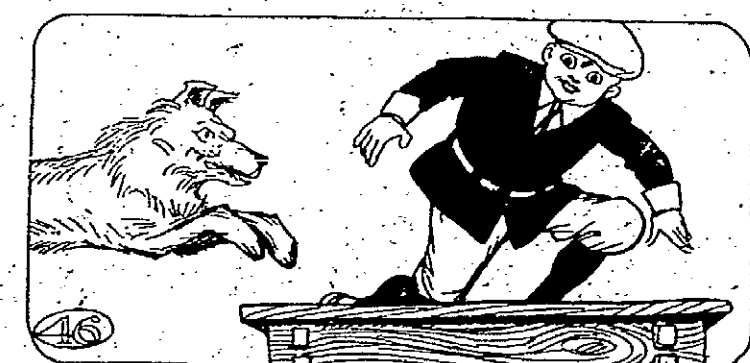

The home, which opens up beautifully for an affair of this kind, was enhanced in beauty by the clever use of fall flowers, their brilliant colors blending and making a harmonious background for the smart afternoon costumes worn by the sixty guests present. After a brief reception, places were found at the small tables and several hours spent at bridge, with Mrs. J. Frost Davis, Mrs. Varner Altman and Mrs. Arthur Bannan receiving dainty favors for scoring.

Later the tables were arranged for luncheon and the hostesses were given the gracious assistance of Mrs. Hattie Russell, Miss Mary Vincent, Mrs. C. E. Noddy, and Mrs. Albert Marting, in serving the dainty viands. Fluffy buttered chrysanthemums made into nosegays, were given as favors. Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, of Cleveland, guest of her sister, Mrs. James W. Bannan, Jr., was an out of town guest.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — IN THE OLDEN CASTLE

The little adventurer was just about to hop down off the table again when Flip dashed into the room from the kitchen door. Jingo laughed loudly when the dog appeared. "He has been out in the kitchen getting something to eat," he said. And then Flip jumped up on the table with Jack.

A delightful family reunion was held today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Selby, at Harvard, when they brought together for a pleasant reunion Mr. and Mrs. George D. Selby of Gallia street, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Selby of Third street, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Selby of Toledo, and Mrs. Towenna Burfield of Columbus.

Theta Phi Alpha, a national sorority at Athens, Ohio, is pleased to announce the pledging of Miss Edna Hangesen of Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Ham Williams of Bowser Run, near Sciotoville, entertained recently the following guests: Mrs. Ruby Hyland, son, Wesley and daughter Cora, Mr. and Mrs. L. Janelsky and children, Margaret and Thelma, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horen and children, Orlan, Florence, Chesler, Roger and Jean, all of Portsmouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Sluter and three children of Sciotoville.

Dinner was served on the lawn, pleasant style, and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Through the courtesy of the Woman's City Club of Ironton, those interested in music were given the opportunity to share the benefits obtained from Prof. Elmer Ende's lecture last evening at the Presbyterian Church. His subject was "The Music of the Bible," and he was greeted by a large audience.

In announcing his arrival yesterday the Irontonian said:

"Ironton is to be considered fortunate in securing Mr. Ende, who is the organist and director of music of the Second Presbyterian Church in Portsmouth. He has directed for the past two years a chorus in that city, similar to the one to be organized in Ironton, and last year the chorus won the grand prize at the Jackson Eisteddfod.

"Mr. Ende received his general education at Western Reserve University. He is a graduate and took post-graduate work at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. While there he won the gold medal in 1919 for organ playing. He engaged in advanced work at Harvard and the New England Conservatory.

"For a time he was assistant to the late Louis Elson, Boston theorist; he was the music critic of the Boston Daily Advertiser and also professor of Organ and Theory at Bluffton College for three years. He has presided at the organ in leading churches of Chicago and Boston.

"It is seldom that a town of the size of Ironton has the good fortune to secure a man of the high calibre of Mr. Ende, and the devotees of music should lend every encouragement to him and the music club."

Following is a list of interest to many Portsmouth persons, as Mr. Crowder Perkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Perkins, of Center street. He is a graduate of P. H. S. and lived in Portsmouth until four years ago, when he went to Cleveland to take a position with the Ohio Steel Company.

The article, which appeared in the Cleveland News, is as follows:

"In an attractive gown of white brocaded chiffon velvet, a tulle veil trimmed with rose point heliotrope lace and carrying a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, Miss Geraldine Margaret Stephan will become the bride of Mr. Thomas Crowder Perkins of Portsmouth, Ohio, Saturday. The marriage service will be read at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Emmanuel Episcopal Church by the Rev. Kirk O'Farrell.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. James Edwin Terry II, a million of honor. Mrs. Terry will wear a gown of beaded brocaded velvet, a tulle veil, and carry a Ward roses. Miss Lillian Blanchet, the bridesmaid, will wear a white tulle, a hat to match and carry a bouquet of white and pink roses. The flower girl will wear a dress of white net and carry a basket of white roses.

Mr. Perkins will be attended by Mr. Albert H. Shonkewiller as best man. The ushers will be Messrs. Wm. Dennis Perkins, brother of the bridegroom, James Edwin Terry II, Benjamin Scott, and Robert Hayes Pennock.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper will be served at the home of the bride. After a wedding trip east, Mr. and Mrs. Perkins will reside at 1308 Broadway, Lakewood. The bride, who will be given in marriage by Mr. Charles S. Schnecko, is the daughter of Mrs. William J. Stephan, of Lakewood. Mr. Perkins is a former student of Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Pa. During the world war he served as an ensign in the submarine service.

Mrs. Clay Newman and daughters Etta and Goldie, and son Guy, of Ninth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmer and son Arthur, of Second street, motored to Blue Creek for a week end visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meeker.

Mrs. John Hopper of Third street, has gone to Marysville, having accompanied home her mother in law, Mrs. Mary Hopper who has been visiting here. Mrs. Hopper will visit with other relatives at Marysville for two weeks.

Group 4 of the Trinity Ladies Aid Society will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edgar Mann, 2231 Argonne Road, instead of with Miss Mary E. Pursell as previously announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Hazelbaker and daughter, Alma Ruth, of Jefferson street, and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Grimes, of Fourth street, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Hazelbaker at Buena Vista.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton
LITTLE MRS. BROWN HEN

"Look here, ladies," he said politely. "You're all wrong."

"Come here!" beckoned Mister Dodger to the Twins. "What do you make of this?"

Nancy and Nick crouched down beside the fairymen where they could see and hear, but where they could not be seen themselves.

But they need not have been afraid for the chickens were having an argument, and when people are trying to show that everybody else is wrong and nobody is right but themselves, they don't bother much about outsiders.

Mrs. Buff Orpington was speaking. "Why all you've got to do is to ask Farmer Brown," she cackled. "He had me at the County Fair in a cage with wire over the front, with a card on it that told about me. I'm the finest hen on the farm. My ancestors date back as far as the first hay stack in the county and my blood is as blue as rinse water on washing day."

"Oh goodness!" ruckled Misses Plymouth Rock. "Blue blood! My goodness! Didn't my ancestors come over in the Mayflower and land at Plymouth Rock? Don't talk to me about blue blood!"

"Speaking of blood," put in Misses Bantam. "My great grand grandfather was the most famous game-cock in America. He won the biggest egg-fight ever held on this side of the ocean."

"Humph!" sniffed Misses Black Minorca. "That's something to be ashamed of, if not proud of. I shouldn't boast of it if I were you, Misses Bantam. But they do say that small people are always taking of their own importance. You'll make pretty poor picking when it comes to a meal."

Misses Rhode Island Red spoke up majestically at this:

"Yes, I should say so! When it comes to showing one's board and keep, I flatter myself that I have some meat on my bones. Besides my eggs are larger and finer than any in Squeaky-Mo land. I have heard Farmer Brown say so, and besides I have eyes in my own head."

"Well, of all things!" put in Misses White Leghorn. "As though I didn't have the record for laying! While Leghorns are the best laying hens in the world."

At that minute Mister Dodger stepped into the circle and pointed to little Misses Brown Hen, who had no name at all, and hadn't said a word.

"Look here, ladies," he said politely. "You're all wrong. Here is the Champion Egg Layer of Squeaky-Mo land! She's too modest to boast, but she hasn't missed a day since last Christmas and she has no ancestors to speak of, either. She eats less and works harder than any I know."

And what do you think, my dears? Those hens all crowded around and apologized. They were kind-hearted in spite of their foolishness. (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1923, N.E.A. Service, Inc.)

Sallie Ann SAYS

"Tis said that what is worth while doing is worth doing well and that it is the spirit that premeates both the sales force and the management of The Fashion House, the sales force and the management to make it a store so distinctive in styles that it is fast being accepted by the women of Portsmouth as 'Style Headquarters'."

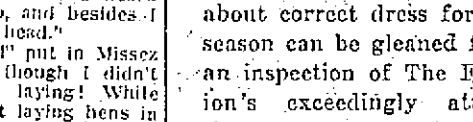

A half hour spent here particularly at this time, will prove to you that this reputation is well deserved. I have never seen a more complete and beautiful assortment of coats; I have never examined a more pleasing assortment of pleasing silk and cloth dresses. The coat dress, New York's latest craze, is here in profusion. I go into ecstasies every time I am shown the lovely assortment of dressy blouses. And I just "love" those "Rak-wak" and "Monte-ray" hats.

What to wear, how to wear it, and what to combine with it — everything one may wish to know about correct dress for the season can be gleaned from an inspection of The Fashion's exceedingly attractive up-to-date stocks and consultation with the well informed saleswomen.

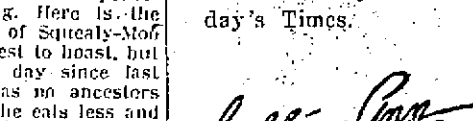

I will see you in Thursday's Times.

Trucks Collide; Negro Hurt

Toni Weaver, 40, negro, Charleston, W. Va., was severely hurt about ten o'clock Tuesday night when the Ford truck he was driving east on the Inton road collided head-on with a larger truck, near Franklin Furnace.

Weaver, who was thrown from the seat of his machine to the roadway by the force of the impact, was injured about the right side and leg and may have sustained several broken ribs. The injured man was later picked up by a passing motorist and brought to police station in this city where he was attended by City Physician Dr. T. C. Crawford.

The Ford truck was badly wrecked in the crash, with the other vehicle, the ownership of which was not learned.

ASTHMA DOOMED BY OHIO DOCTOR'S NEW TREATMENT

Specialist's Prescription Guaranteed To Bring Complete Relief—Or No Cost

At last Asthma, too, has yielded to modern medical science. For a wonderful new treatment—perfected by Dr. M. G. Platt of the Clinical Laboratories, Cleveland, Ohio—always violent spasms, usually in 30 minutes or less, and fully relieve the chronic suffering of every form of Asthma within 24 hours.

No longer need you wheeze and gasp and fight for breath. No longer need you face those terrible nights of strangling horror. For this remarkable new prescription is powerfully curative and banishes every Asthma symptom—or it costs you nothing.

This new treatment is known as Dr. Platt's Rinec Prescription, and is entirely different from any other. The latest medical discoveries prove that all the different forms of ASTHMA—whether renal, cardiac, simple bronchial or otherwise—are due to one fundamental internal condition—an overloading and poisoning of the entire system through toxins derived from one or more of several causes.

No previous treatment has attempted to get at this internal condition. But this new Rinec treatment, taken in simple capsule form and absorbed into the blood stream through the digestive tract, immediately neutralizing this internal infection, thus it brings instant and complete relief from every form of Asthma—without any habit forming narcotics or toxic drugs and without any bad after-effects.

Rinec is the only Asthma treatment on the market originated and developed entirely by physicians under scientific clinical conditions, manufactured by reliable ethical manufacturers and approved and prescribed by physicians.

What matter what form of Asthma you have, or how long you have suffered with it, Rinec is guaranteed to bring you complete relief—or it costs you nothing. The regular size package costs for only $1.00 and is returned in full if it does not do the work. Be sure to get the genuine Dr. Platt's Rinec Prescription in the eight glass flask. But just now, through a special introductory arrangement, you can obtain a trial treatment, entirely FREE.

Simply go to any of the drug stores, mail order and ask for a trial package of Rinec. No obligation at all on your part. But be sure to ask for your free treatment within the next three days—this offer is limited. Incidentally Rinec is sold under the same money-back guarantee which relieves Hay Fever and Catarrh and to dispel Read Colds in 5 hours. It may be obtained in this city at Geo. Fremont, Gallia Office St. Fisher & Streich Drug, East End Pharmacy, Warster Bros. Advertisement.

Cole Dismissed

Glenn Cole, Mabert Road youth, following a hearing in Municipal court Tuesday on a disorderly charge made by C. J. Bentley, also of Mabert road, was dismissed on his promise to watch his conduct in the future.

The hearing disclosed that he became involved in an altercation when Cole sought to take Bentley to task over alleged gossip concerning him.

CASE CONTINUED

Jack Killen, 21, of Scioto Furnace was in Municipal court Tuesday to answer to a charge of stealing a bicycle belonging to James Hall, 623 Seventh street. He admitted taking the wheel for a ride and that while out with it he became negligent which resulted in the bike being slightly damaged but he disclaimed any intention of stealing the vehicle.

After hearing the defendant's story the court continued the case for further investigation.

Rev. Jackson Taught Class In Oak Hill

OAK HILL, O., Oct. 17.—The Men's Bible Class of the M. E. Sunday School enjoyed a rare treat Sunday morning when Rev. J. C. Jackson of Portsmouth, lectured to them on "The Bible." Rev. THE WOMAN POWER OF AMERICA is well illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every line of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop weak, nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headaches, kachache, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to their sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. It holds the remarkable record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it.

Miner Must Serve Life Term In "Pen"

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Oct. 17.—Dan Agosta of Belmont county, a miner, must serve a life sentence in the state penitentiary for the murder of John I. Major, near New Lafferty, Belmont county, during the coal strike. The State Supreme Court today refused to review Agosta's case, thereby upholding his conviction in the lower courts.

The killing of Major occurred on June 27, 1922, as Major and others working in a stripping mine were going to their work. A number of union miners, intercepted them and sought to have them discontinue the stripping operation and the shooting ensued. Agosta was part-owner of the mine in which he was working, operating a steam shovel.

Mayor Hylan Has Serious Relapse

NEW YORK, October 17.—A sudden change in condition of Mayor Hylan today caused a consultation of physicians. Absolute rest for two weeks was prescribed. The mayor now is suffering from nervous indigestion. He has no desire for food and unless the appetite is restored physicians fear his condition may become dangerous.

He was not permitted to sit up in his bed today. He was walked around the room.

Work On New Belt Line Is Progressing

So rapidly is the work on the new Norfolk and Western belt line which is being constructed between Kenova and Ceredo, with a possible extension on to Huntington, progressing that it now seems probable the work will be completed weeks ahead of the scheduled date. The right of way for the new line has been cleared almost to the western terminus, a line of Ceredo and track has now been laid about half this distance.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

TWO BIG CORRECTIONS!

First: The ad in Monday's paper read that the Gallia street corner lot within a few squares of the post office was 58 1-2 feet front, should have been 68 1-2 feet front. 10 feet on Gallia street makes quite a difference. This corner can be bought

FOR $51,000.00

Second: The "ad" read the corner lot on Eleventh street with a frontage of 55 feet 6 inches rented for $82.00. It should have been $132.00 per month.

PRICE $20,000.00

MARKET MAKES VALIANT EFFORT TO OVERCOME SLUMP

Reactionary Appearance To Bonds

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Selling of a number of the western railroad, chemical, leather and rubber company bonds gave reactionary appearance to the bond market in today's early dealings. Foreign bonds showed little change except for a point drop in Mexican 5's and a large fractional rise in U.S. Gov. 4 1/2's.

OBITUARY

Thomas Waters

Death, claimed an old resident of Erie county, Wednesday, October 10, when Thomas Waters, 82 years of age, died at his home, the final summons coming at the home of his son, Nicholas Waters, Harrison, Penna., with whom he had made his home since the death of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Waters, who died in 1910. Mr. Waters had been in poor health for some time but had been bedfast only the past two weeks.

The deceased was widely known in the Harrison, Penna., community, where he will be missed by a host of friends and relatives. When quite young in life he united with the Episcopal church of England before coming to this country. He was born on January 8th, 1840, having attained the ripe old age of 83 years, 9 months and two days. Besides an only son, Nicholas Waters, he leaves seven grand sons, three grand daughters, and a host of other relatives. He was a member of the Harrison Furnace church, where he was a member for many years. He was a member of the Harrison Furnace church, where he was a member for many years. Mrs. Matilda Jane Lyons
Following a stroke of paralysis, Mrs. Matilda Jane Lyons passed away at 1:30 Monday afternoon, October 15, at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lyons, 510 Third street. Mrs. Lyons was born March 25, 1846 and at the time of her death her age was seventy-seven years, six months and twenty days. In the year of 1862, she was married to Jonathan Anderson and to this union were born three children. Mr. Anderson passed away in 1871 and she was later married to Wesley Lyons. To this union were born six children, three of whom have preceded her in death. Those sur-

Less than two hours after they had left municipal court Tuesday afternoon, where they were fined $11.20 each for disorderly conduct charges, Irvin and Mary Lewis were back in the tolls again for they had no sooner reached their home 1209 Union street than trouble broke out anew. Lewis called the police complaining that his wife would not let him in to get his clothes. The real trouble occurred while the police were enroute to the home. When the officers arrived, Lewis exhibited three jumps on his head which he said his wife had inflicted with the aid of a pop bottle. Mrs. Lewis was bleeding about the head and claimed that her husband had struck her.

In municipal court this afternoon, Lewis entered a plea of not guilty to assault and his wife was unable

POLICE NEWS

When the police visited the home of Albert Sperry, 1014 Third street, last night and found a small quantity of "white mule" they arrested Sperry and his wife, Clara Sperry, on charges of possession of the forbidden liquor.

In Municipal court today Albert Sperry, Edmund Brisker and Albert Hoover were fined $11.20 each for intoxication and Howard Spicer, J. Paydan and Henry Young, arrested for drunkenness, forfeited bonds by failing to appear for trial. Arch Kimble, 1027 Chillicothe street, appeared in Municipal court today and pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting his wife, Elsie Kimble and the case was continued until Thursday for hearing because of the absence of the wife, who failed to appear in court to press the charge.

The court was advised that when Mrs. Kimble appeared to file the complaint she exhibited marks which she claimed Kimble had inflicted upon her. She claimed that her husband had beaten her and then added to his rough treatment by kicking her.

Woolen Mill May Locate Here

A letter from the Duxbury Mills Company, Chicago, to the local Chamber of Commerce brings the information that the Company is seeking a site in Portsmouth for a mill where they could produce woolen cloth for suits, overcoats, and blankets. A building with about 25,000 square feet of floor space is desired. Manager Adina Frick of the Chamber of Commerce has replied to the communication giving information on several buildings that would be suitable for the needs of the Company. A personal visit of a member of the Company to the River City is urged by Manager Frick.

DESCRIBES THE LAND WHERE NAZARENE DWELT
Greeted by an audience which filled the auditorium, Stephen Haboush, a native of Galilee, presented native costumes, a lecture and moving pictures in First Christian Church last night. He explained many Biblical references which are misinterpreted by Americans because they are unfamiliar with the customs of the Hebrew people. "Some people imagine that where the Bible says he took up his bed and walked, it means he lifted a six foot spring bed on his back. Not so. My people use their outer garment as a bed with a stone for a pillow."

Saw Giants Beat Yanks

Alan N. Jordan has arrived home from Syracuse, N. Y., where he attended the annual meeting of the National Dairy Association at which his famous milk-producing cow, Namo, was on exhibition and was greatly admired. On his way home Mr. Jordan sauntered down to New York, where he saw the Giants win their 1 to 0 game from the Yankees. He says the feature aside from Stengel's homer was a catch by Outfielder Meusel and his throw to the plate cutting off a runner at the tallying station.

'Bawls Out' Policeman For Not Buying Moonshine; Evans Arrested; Is Fined

Hereafter when Clarence Evans picks out a prospective customer for moonshine he will be more careful for last night about the midnight hour he approached Plain Clothes Officer Sparks at Gallia and 16th streets and inquired if he wanted to make a purchase of three bottles of "moon." When in the market for liquor Evans, three officer told Evans he was not did not like it a bit and told Sparks what he thought of him. After he had completed his remarks about the man who would not purchase moonshine when he had the chance Officer Sparks took him in tow and within a short time he was behind the bars of the city jail. This afternoon in police court he was fined $200 and costs on a charge of possessing moonshine.

Local News

An Overland touring car stolen from Eighth street just west of Friday Tuesday afternoon was found by the police Wednesday morning on Mill street east of Gay. The tools had been stolen from the machine, which was owned by Carl Winnebrenner of Seafordville. Winnebrenner is employed at the Seely factory and missed the machine when he quit work Tuesday evening. Manager Adam Frick of the Chamber of Commerce has written to the County Commissioners and State Highway Department, urging that the permanent improvement of at least a mile of the road leading from the end of the paving on Gallia pike just the new Country Club and towards Otway. This would give a good road to the Country Club grounds. The matter is being taken up at this time so that the work could be advertised within a few weeks and contract let this winter.

A turkey supper with all the trimmings was one of the things planned at an enthusiastic meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Bigelow M. E. church, held Tuesday afternoon at the church. The supper will be held on Thursday evening, November 15th, and the tickets are now on sale at seventy cents. They may be obtained from any member of the society.

A bazaar will be held in connection with the supper, when all kinds of fancy articles suitable for Christmas presents will be on sale at reasonable prices. Committees were named to take charge of the booths, and in addition to the fancy articles all kinds of baked goods will also be taken for doll dresses, and an apron booth will be conducted.

Cash donations will be expected from those who do not have the time to make fancy articles or do any baking for the bazaar and supper.

Mrs. Thirline Anderson and son Ernest King, are visiting with Mrs. Reese Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller of Market Street.

STATE MEETS MICHIGAN SATURDAY; ILLINOIS CLASHES WITH IOWA

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Interest among followers of big ten football this week centers on practice activities at the camp of Michigan, opponent Saturday of Ohio State, and Illinois which will meet Iowa, the games being regarded as the most important so far of the 1923 campaign.

The Michigan-Buckeye game may develop into an aerial fight, as forward passing plays built about the pass are being stressed in the work-outs of both teams.

The offensive equipment of the Iowa Hawkeyes is being enlarged, with stiff scrimmages planned for the next two days. Coach Zuppke, Illinois mentor, is sorting over material to replace several vacancies in his squad caused by injuries and scholarship deficiencies.

Neighborhood differences will be settled by Northwestern and Chicago, the former anxious to recoup its losses and the latter making its 1923 conference debut.

Minnesota and Purdue, which take the field against non-conference North Dakota and Wabash teams, respectively, are trying new combinations and developing their time to light work-outs.

P. H. S. GRIDDERS ROMP OVER NEW BOSTON HI ELEVEN, 45 TO 0

A 60-yard run for a touchdown by Ellsworth after he received the kick-off from Norris of Glenwood III at the start of the second half, a 65 and 40 yard run by Jimmy Sprague and a 60 yard run for a touchdown by Thompson, featured yesterday's football game between P. H. S. and New Boston Hi. The game was a practice session for the Reg and Blue and a money making proposition with Glenwood III. A big crowd of P. H. S. fans turned out and helped swell the funds in the Glenwood high school football treasury. The final score stood 45 to 0, the P. H. S. first team going in the second half after the second and third string men had hung up a score of 13 to 0 against Glenwood. Ironton HI had scored at the game and for this reason Coach McCormick did not let the locals use their various trick plays which he hoped New Boston.

The New Boston kids put up a game fight considering the class of players they were up against. Their attempted end runs were cut down before they could get well under way, and the P. H. S. blue held firm on punting on kicking most of the players attempting to grab their man high instead of low. P. H. S. runners slipped away more than once as the result of attempted high tackles by the Glenwood gridders.

When the second team started the game Thompson was at quarter with McConnell at full, Sprague and "Dude" Moore halves. Sprague made the first touchdown by going around end for about 65 yards and a touchdown. Thompson kicked goal making the score 7 to 0. The run by Thompson was the second play of the game by the Reg and Blue. Thompson made the next big run a few seconds later when he made 60 yards on a sneak through the line. Near the end of the first period P. H. S. carried the ball down the field on straight plays and soon put it over with Moore carrying the ball. The kick failed.

Second Half
This period opened with the regulars in the game for the first and Blue. The first play was the feature run by Ellsworth who outdistanced the New Boston speed demons in the race for the goal. The kick for one point failed. Another touchdown came a few seconds later. New Boston fumbled the kickoff on their third yard line and P. H. S. carried the ball over the goal around right end for 17 yards and on the next play Ellsworth went over on a sneak. A forward pass, Ellsworth to Monk, was good for one point, making the score 26 to 0.

After receiving, Glenwood failed to gain, and punted to the 50 yard line where Ellsworth got the ball and carried it back to New Boston's 9 yard line. New Boston was on the 14 yard line when they punted. McConnell hit the line for 5 yards and then Gose skirted and for a touchdown. A drop kick failed. Score 32 to 0. Before the quarter ended Gose had made a 32 yard run around end. When New Boston had the ball on their 25 yard line a pass back from center sailed over Norris' head on a punt formation and rolled to the 5 yard line where Norris recovered.

Last Quarter
Soon after the quarter started, Norris punted. Line smashes and short end runs coupled with a 14 yard run by Bill Moore through the line and then a 16 yard run around end, by Gose put the ball over. Ellsworth passed to Monk for the one point. Score 39 to 0.

P. H. S. received on the 10 yard line and Ellsworth ran it back to the 40 yard line. Moore made 9 yards. Thompson then went through the line for 16 yards placing the ball on the 5 yard line. Gose took it over on a wide end run. A drop kick failed. Score 45 to 0. A 21 yard run through the line by Ellsworth and a pass to Thompson, which was good for 15 yards featured the remainder of the play. P. H. S. got the ball on New Boston's one foot line but failed to put it across before the whistle blew. The linemen at the start of the game:

Portsmouth (45) New Boston (0)
Dunham, Monk, I.C., Bowen
Flowers, I.C., Winters
Rhinn, I.C., Curry

TAXES AND POLITICS

THE Cincinnati Times-Star professes great indignation because the Democratic organization in its city is lining up against the Taft bill. The owner of the Times-Star is the uncle of the author of the Taft bill. So much for that.

The Republican state organization has issued orders to all the county organizations to get busy for the Taft bill. That makes the scare somewhat even from a partisan standpoint.

The grange organization, the state organization of real estate agents have unanimously declared against the Taft bill.

The Times-Star says the Taft bill is not one to raise taxes, but in the same breath it says, in effect, if it is defeated Cincinnati and other cities will go broke. This can mean nothing else but more revenue for these cities if the Taft bill is authorized to get in its deadly work. More revenue means more taxes and nothing else, so the Times-Star defeats itself.

The grangers and the real estate men oppose the measure because and for the sole reason that it means more taxes.

The Taft bill will be found on a special ballot—submitted to the November election—not by that title but generally as a measure to revise the tax laws. Unless the voter desires to pay more taxes he will mark it "no."

MORE ABOUT TAXES

CONGRESSMEN are gathering thus early at Washington, all for one single purpose, it is said, to chart the lines, if possible, upon which new taxation legislation shall proceed.

There are many variant views among them, though there seems to be a sort of general trend to get more taxes by increasing the impost upon inheritances to an extent never yet thought of.

That is bad, it is positively wicked. In the first place the country has been fed up on the marvelous reduction the Harding administration was making in expenses and the foolish people got the idea it meant less taxes, now they realize it is to mean more. Then what could be worse than extracting more tribute from virtue, thrift and providence?

A man eschews extravagance, he is prudent in venture and expenditure, he plans, he labors and he sacrifices, in order that his wife, the children he brought into the world, may not have to endure his hardships, may be rendered secure against poverty. Yet, after he has done all that a big government comes along and robs the widow of her dower, the children of their patrimony. It isn't right, it isn't just, it isn't honest. It does more to destroy the sturdy prop of a nation, thrift and prudence, than all the good government flunkies can do in a thousand years by sending out nicely printed pamphlets urging saving.

Whenever a nation begins to plunder its widows and its orphans it is starting to its downfall, because God has decreed terrible curse upon him who robs these, the special wards of His justice and love.

China is progressing. The governor of a province has been "fired" because he allowed banditry to become too common. We suppose a reasonable amount would have been permitted, as the canny Chinese statesman doesn't believe in killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

The German mark issue amounts to 28,228,000,000,000,000. You can save all the issue is worth, if you will not take the family flier out until you have counted up to that number.

The Cincinnati Enquirer pays a great tribute to "the little brown hen" and owes her as producing an egg output that was worth more than the entire wheat crop. Fine; but, their ain't no such animal no more, as the little brown hen, she's red, or speckled, but mostly white.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The few saloons that hang on in New York are pitiful reminders of what they call "the good old days." The old-time bartender is no longer behind the bar. In his stead is the flip young man—brother to the Times Square soda water jerkers.

I had a chat the other day with one of the old-time bartenders, types—remain seated, please, he is now a Fifth Avenue coach conductor—and he talked with a certain pride of the days when he reigned in white aproned pomp on the other side of the bar.

He learned much of human frailties, he said, and also of its nobility. Men drink, he declared, because of three things—joy, sorrow or for convivial companionship. The majority, he believed, were in the latter class.

It was his conviction the bartender must be all things to all men. He illustrated. The man came in alone. Called for straight whiskey. Drank in silence. Ordered another. Then to the bartender: "John me in a little something?" And the "Don't care if I do."

After this drink the lone drinker began: "Say did this ever happen to you?" And he usually told a hypothetical story—one of sorrow or joy—about a supposed friend. The bartender knew intuitively the man was rehearsing his own joy or sorrow.

This went on day after day, year after year and so the bartender became a student of human nature. He told me he could tell, at first glance whether a man was a drinker of rye, bourbon or Scotch. "It can't be done today," he said significantly. "They drink a mixture of everything."

I was interested to know why he became a bus conductor. He was a shrewd Irishman. "Because," he said, "I have an opportunity to meet people and by being on the job can impress some passenger who can do me good. I won't be here long. He was glad, however, the saloon had gone. He said his wife and children met a certain social ostracism because of his vocation. He was much happier.

The underworld will tell you the man who fired the shot that killed Herman Rosenthal in front of the Metropolitan Hotel and for whose murder Police Lieutenant Becker, Dago Frank, Gyp the Blond and Whitey Lewis were electrocuted, still walks the streets of New York. I have seen the man they mean many times—mostly at night—walking on Broadway, but always with a heavy set fellow who apparently acts as a body guard. Some day, the underworld whispers, he will be caught off guard.

Ordering ice cream sodas all day long would sound like a heavenly sort of existence to most flunkies. Yet the "soda fountain spotters," who are employed by private detective agencies soon fire of the job, and few keep it more than a month. It is the "spotters" duty to be disguised as a casual customer and see to it that there are no frauds in the various checking systems. Also to see that service is up to the standard. The "spotter" is usually a young girl.

The Toy Curb Market on Sixth Avenue is getting ready for Yuletide. Here the shabby hawkers live in a world of miniature trains, engines, jumping jacks and the like. It is toyland for the poor children who come in droves to watch in the toyland wonder but rarely to buy. The vendors are silent men and the police do not molest them. They are not good salesmen. They merely wind-up the toy and let it speak for itself.

Speaking of bartenders, as we were a little way up there are still 450 optimists who pay monthly dues to the Bartenders Benevolent and Protective Association, Local No. 3 in Manhattan.

Goals
It isn't so much what a man has done,
As what he has tried to do;
It isn't the victories that he has won,
But the storms he has weathered through.
With courage and faith and a cheery smile,
That makes him a person so well worth while.

The man who has fallen has had his dream.
And maybe he saw a star
So high and so bright that his mortal scheme
Fell short of the gleam afar.
But if he had climbed 'till his strength is spent,
Then give him full credit for his intent.

It isn't the goal that a man may win

Origin of a Great Idea
The cuff on the bottom of trousers came in this way. A Scotchman had been out in a rain and had turned up his trousers at the bottom. When he returned he found he had lost a six-pence. He looked everywhere for it, but in vain. That night, when retiring, the cuff fell out of the fold. The next day he had all the trousers "cuffed," and the tailor, discovering the reason, soon built up a big business.—Christian Advocate.

No Wonder
The warfarer was palpably timid and the good-natured pedestrian slowed down to give him a chance to speak. Still, he hesitated. This was so unusual that the pedestrian became affable.

"Did you wish," he asked, "to speak to me?"
"Sir, can you spare a dime?" asked the warfarer.
"Yes, my good man. Here it is. You seem educated. Have you no occupation?" inquired the kind-hearted one.
"Well, sir," replied the other, "I write articles on success but I don't sell many."

Some Clerk
The sweet-faced elderly woman, who was shopping in a large popular priced store, was peering near-sightedly at a small cup which she had picked up from a pile on the counter. Presently she remarked: "I can't see very well without my glasses. Are these tin?"
"No," said the salesgirl, "they're fifteen."

Color Comparisons
An old colored man was burning dead grass. A smart Alec watching him remarked: "You're foolish to do that, Uncle. It will make the meadow as black as you are."
"Don't worry 'bout dat sah," replied the old man, "dat grass will grow out and be as green as you is."

A Good Excuse
A woman who was going to Egypt had to be inoculated against typhoid. She was untalented to keep a dinner appointment which she had made for the next day, and sent her daughter, aged 10, to make her excuses.
"And what did you say?" she asked the child on her return.
"Exactly what you told me," was the reply. "I said mummy can't come because she was intoxicated yesterday and has a bad headache."

Help Wanted
Sandy and his lass had been sitting together about half an hour in silence.
"Maggie," he said at length, "wasn't I here on the Sabbath night?"
"Aye, Sandy, I daur say you were."

"An' wasn't I here on Monday night?"
"Aye, so ye were."
"An' I was here on Tuesday night, an' Wednesday night, an' Thursday night, an' Friday night?"
"Aye, I'm thinkin' that's so."
"An' this is Saturday night, an' I'm here again."

"Well, I'm sure ye're very welcome."

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

ENOUGH

(By Berton Braley)
I WANTED to wander
"Way out 'over yonder,"
Beyond the far rim of the sea;
The breezes were calling
With voices entrancing,
The wide world was summoning me.

So all by my lonely,
Just me—and me only—
I traveled, and traveled some more;
But after a season,
I found, for some reason,
The wanderer's trail was a bore.

STRANGE oceans and peoples,
Strange temples and steeples,
I viewed them with back-luster eyes;
Not one of them thrilled me,
And home sickness filled me,
A sickness I couldn't disguise.

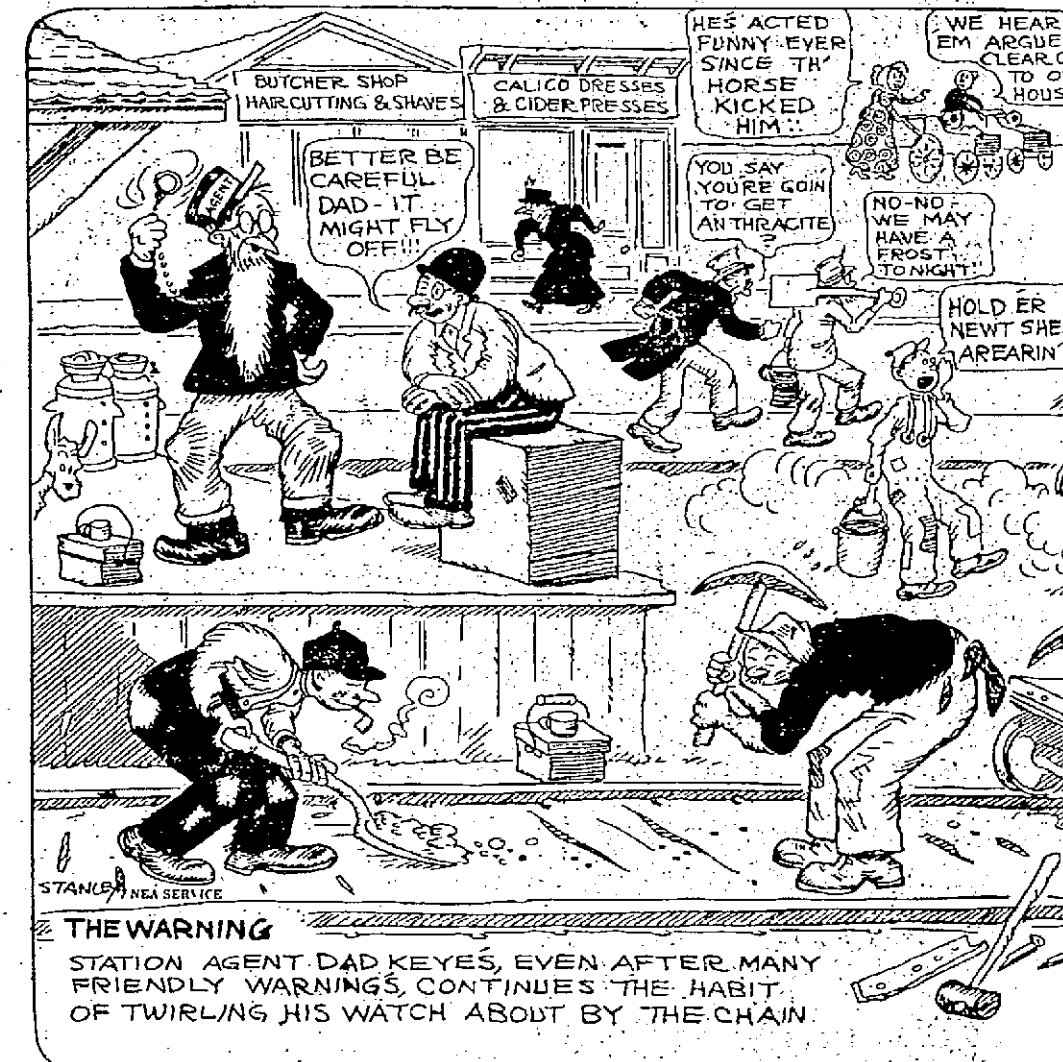

NO more wander-trailing,
Think heaven I'm sailing
Again to my own native loam;
No roaming is over,
I've failed as a rover.
Thank heaven I'm on my way home!
